Story of an Ink Stain.

Pens and furniture used in the signing of the famous treaties and documents recall Archibald Forbes's experience after Sedan. After witnessing Napoleon's interview with Bismarck at a wayside cottage and his subsequent surrender, Forbes and a fellow war correspondent slept in the chateau which the fallen emperor had occupied the night before.
The bed-room was just as Napoleon had left it and by the bed the open book with which he had read himself to sleep. It was Lytton's "Last of the Barons."

Sitting at the adjoining writing table, Forbes wrote his despatch while his companion gnawed at a ham bone, their sole remainder of food. Late at the little eating furnished, he flung it across the room and it fell into the inkstand into which Forbes was dipping. When Forbes revisited the chateau a month or so later the ink stain was pointed out as caused by Napoleon's rage on learning the German terms of peace.—London Chronicle.

BALLINGER NOW
CROSS EXAMINEDSAID GLAVIS "LOAFED ON HIS JOB" IN ALASKAN CASES.Defies Anyone to Point Out Anything
He Has Done Not in Line With Duty.

THE DAY'S DEVELOPMENTS.

Washington, May 6.—Ballinger concluded his direct testimony in the Ballinger-Pinchot hearing with this statement:"I defy anyone to put his finger on anything that I have done while in the public service which was not in line with my duty and in accordance with my trust."Attorney Brandeis, counsel for L.
R. Glavis, one of Ballinger's chief accusers, then took up the cross-examination. On the first question Brandeis had to appeal to the committee to "request" Ballinger to answer. The question involved Postmaster General Hitchcock as the "official pie distributor" of the administration. Brandeis wanted to know why Ballinger had wired Chief of the Field Division Schwartz to await until he had talked with Hitchcock before he made the appointment of ten special agents to be employed in Alaskan coal cases investigation.
Ballinger declined to answer same, saying that the matter was not political. The committee by a vote of 6 to 5 voted that Ballinger need not answer.Ballinger admitted the interview in which he declared subsequent to the publication of the Glavis charges, "that he proposed to kill some snakes." He also admitted that he had reference to Glavis, who, he had made up his mind, "ought to be killed as a snake." He said Glavis "loafed on his job" in conducting the Alaskan cases.Early in the day Ballinger contradicted two statements made by former Secretary Garfield. He testified that since Pinchot's dismissal there had been a complete reversal of the forestry policy of the government.
He said he believed it would keep a great many Americans from emigrating to Canada and would result in the development of many portions of the forest reserves.The hitherto unknown published letter of the president to Ballinger, under date of September 13, 1908, was read. In it the president expressed a desire to retain Pinchot but said his weakness lay in "inability to credit high and honorable motives to those who differ with him as to his methods of doing things." The president requested Ballinger to remain silent under the criticism.
The secretary said this was the reason he had not answered the charges.AN EXPERT'S OPINION OF SKIN DISEASES.A prominent, national expert on skin diseases whose name you are familiar with says that in all his scientific experience he has never found so hard a disease to conquer as Eczema. Yet he does not hesitate to recommend ZEMO as a most successful remedy for the treatment of Eczema, itching skin diseases, dandruff, pimples, blackheads and all other diseases of the skin and scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A great improvement over the old style greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that causes the disease. ZEMO draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. Mr. W. J. Gilbert will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of ZEMO and a booklet which explains in simple language all about skin diseases and how to cure yourself at home with ZEMO.

BIG CROP DAMAGE.

Reported in Wheat Market Yesterday Caused Advance.Chicago, May 6.—Voeiferous crop damage cries were heard yesterday all along the line from Manitoba to Texas. Freezing, dryness and insects were a few of the reasons. In consequence wheat made a net advance here of $\frac{3}{4}$ to 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cts., the latter for May. Official denial from the Burlington railway that the company had reported the wheat prospects in Nebraska at 57 per cent and farmers plowing up hundreds of fields of spoiled wheat was the only redeeming feature. So did the Ohio state report, showing a condition two points better than a month ago, and thirteen points better than a year ago, spoil the unanimity of the damage chorus.Stranger—Who are those uniformed men with the heavy leather gloves and the nickel-plated nippers?
Native—Eh! Why, that's Chicago's famous hatpin squad.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.Perspiration for better things on earth is the best aspiration for
